Chinese In The Peace River Rallying To Support Home Land In A Financial Way

Jack Marvin, Bill Mark and Charlie Wong left by motor on Tuesday, with Peace River on their destination, but due to drifting snow they were only able to get about three miles on the other side of the river. They decided not to attempt to go any further and arrived back in Grande Prairie Wednesday night.

They stated to the Tribune that there was considerable more snow on the north side of the Peace River than the south. While they had to be pulled out from the north side, the snow was beginning to pile up.

The trip was made primarily to collect money from residents Chinese for the Chinese Red Cross Society and the Chinese Red Cross Society and the Chinese Red Cross Society.

Arrangements were made with Charlie Wong of Sault Ste. Marie, who is Chinese, to collect money from the Chinese in the Peace River.

Old Timers In Hectic Battle With R. Devils Lose By Score 5-3

The old-time hockey players sprung a surprise Tuesday night at the Waipiti Rink when they fought the fast-stopping Red Devils to ten-minute overtime.

The majority of the fans never gave the old-timers a chance to even hold the Red Devils and the battle the veterans put up came as a real surprise.

The sentiment of the good-sized crowd was divided according to age. The older fans who had seen men like Johnny Shields, Pat Power and others in their prime days of course pulled for the veterans.

In the first period it looked as though the old-timers would win quite handsily when they notched three goals.

The Red Devils were going good, but the old-timers showed their old-time skills and another three goals.

FRANCE'S PROUD EXHIBITION GRADUALLY DISAPPEARS

Part of the famous Paris Exhibition, which was a mixture of success and failure, is gradually disappearing. This photograph shows the colonial section, built on the Ile des Cygnes, being pulled down. Many of the pavilions built along the embankment of the Seine are to be broken up this month, owing to the rising water level of the river, but there is a possibility that the exhibition will be re-opened next year using the permanent exhibition buildings.

VOTE BARRED AT 113

Despite the fact that he has voted steadily for 62 years, William Stanton, 113, of Sheboygan, Wis., is not a citizen of the United States. Such was the claim made by officials when they investigated his pension application. Records indicate that Stanton was born in Ireland in 1824, went to the United States in 1830, but never was naturalized.

Who, with his wife, is the key to an international mystery following their mysterious disappearance in Moscow recently. According to investigations Robinson and his wife are masquerading under false American passports, having apparently assumed the names of two persons long dead, taking the names from New York tombstones. Nothing is known of their real identity.

CHANGES POSITION ON LEAF'S LINE-UP

Chamberlain, of the Toronto Maple Leafs, was playing centre on the Mett-Kelly forward line, but he has been changed as Holt moves into line, and will be the extra forward until the management decides how effective the Mett-Holt-Kelly combination is. Young Murph, Chamberlain is very popular with the fans, who like his style and aggressiveness.

BREAK WAGE BILL DEADLOCK

The United States administration's wage-hour bill proponents win a long fight to get it to the House by securing the necessary 218th signature to a petition to discharge the rules of committee, which has blocked the bill for months, from further consideration of the measure. Representative Joseph J. Mansfield of Texas is shown signing the petition for the 218th signature. Others shown in the picture are: Mary Norton of New York; William Beauchamp of Alabama, Speaker of the House; and Pat Nease of Pennsylvania.
